

Smithsonian
Anacostia Community Museum

Photo Credit: DC Public Library

EDUCATOR'S WORKSHOP: A RIGHT TO THE CITY

Friday, April 27, 2018 | 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

A Right to the City explores the history of neighborhood change in the nation's capital, and its rich history of neighborhood organizing and civic engagement that transformed the city in the face of tremendous odds. With a focus on a diverse range of neighborhoods across the city, the exhibition tells the story of how ordinary Washingtonians have helped shape and reshape their neighborhoods in extraordinary ways. Join Dr. Samir Meghelli, curator of the exhibition A Right to the City with a guided tour and discussion about the exhibition. Teaching for Change will facilitate an interactive lesson on key activists in D.C. history that can be used in middle and high school classrooms. Lunch and educational resources will be provided to all participants. To register email your name, school, grade and subjects taught to maxwellL@si.edu by April 6.

1901 FORT PLACE SE, WASHINGTON, DC 20020 | (202) 633-4820

OPEN DAILY FROM 10AM TO 5PM | CLOSED DEC. 25